Just the Job for You!

Would you love to spend your weekend sitting on your couch, getting paid to watch Netflix?

Read on—this might be your perfect job.

Netflix is hiring an official TV watcher, an Editorial Analyst of Original Content. This binge watcher needs to sit through all of the new shows and movies the company has added to its library this year.

Netflix is looking for someone who is “passionate about movies and TV with a deep knowledge of the entertainment industry” and who can also work with tight deadlines.

If you already love to binge-watch Netflix, welcome to your new career goal.

Discussion Questions

- Netflix-Watcher or Not-So-Much? Would you love a job that keeps you glued to your screen all weekend? Discuss the pros and cons of working as an official binge watcher.
- Name another job that would be perfect for you. Official Ice Cream Flavor Taster? Video Game Tester? Or maybe something more realistic, like Teacher or Nurse? Talk about what skills, loves, and experiences you have for your future career.
- Read Romans 12:6–8. How should we use our gifts in the kingdom of God? How can you help spread the message of Jesus’ love?
